The order in which the candidates will play is alphabetical, starting with a letter drawn by lot.
- ⑦ An adequate number of pianos will be made available to candidates for practicing.

NOTES TO THE MUSICAL PROGRAMMES

- ⑧ All pieces performed must be published works. The same piece may not be performed in different rounds. The program of the Finals must be completely different from that of the Pre-Selections. Candidates must play from memory (except for the contemporary music repertoire and the chamber music repertoire) and make available to the jury two copies of the music for their program, prior to each performance; the music must be the same edition they use in the performance. The order of the pieces, which should be indicated on the online application form, is left to the discretion of the competitor. In this application, the applicant must also indicate the respective duration of each piece (calculated as accurately as possible in order to ensure compliance with the total duration of the round) next to each piece listed. In addition, candidates must indicate the duration of each program, including intervals. It is preferred that all of the ritornelli are observed. Compositions with various different tempo markings or segments must be executed in their entirety.
